

Wanted.

Ladies of energy and tact to handle the Nu Bone Corset in every town in Kentucky. Fine proposition to the right party. Address Mrs. W. F. Bandy, 217 Fifth Ave., Nashville, Tenn. 14-24

Writes from Oklahoma.

Mr. E. S. Ford, of Tulsa, Okla., formerly of Paris, writes most enthusiastically of that country and its many advantages. Tulsa is a model town of 30,000 inhabitants, with fine opportunities for investment in oil, gas, real estate—especially in farming. He and his two boys, Press and Isham, are proprietors of the "Mountain View Dairy" from which they clear about $1,000 per month. Mr. Ford also writes that he is the proud father of a little daughter born June 8.

MILLERSBURG ITEMS.

Mr. E. P. Clarke is slightly improved.
Mrs. Elizabeth Howard is among the sick.
Miss Mattie Butler visited friends at Danville last week.
Mrs. R. B. Turner left Saturday for a visit to relatives at Mt. Sterling.
Mrs. Emma Long left Wednesday for a visit to relatives at Georgetown.
Mr. J. A. Miller is improving nicely at the St. Joseph hospital, Lexington.
Mrs. C. M. Marshall, and children, of Lexington, are guests of relatives here.
Mrs. Sallie Miller returned from St. Joseph hospital, Lexington, some improved.
Miss Hazel Tackett, of Owingsville, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Irene Tackett.
Miss Mary Miller, of Atlanta, Ga., is the guest of her brother, Dr. W. M. Miller.
Mrs. David Hood, of Elizaville, is the guest of her sisters, the Misses McIntyre.
Miss Valette McClintock, of Paris, is visiting her cousin, Miss Mary Louise Collier.
Mr. and Mrs. Parley Evans, of Little Rock, are guests of their sister, Miss Leona Letton.

King McNamara Captured.

After being a fugitive from justice for thirteen years, John H. ("King") McNamara, charged with the murder of former Parisian Jacob S. Keller, in Lexington, was arrested Friday in Louisville by Sheriff Dan W. Scott, of Fayette county.

The arrest of McNamara draws the curtain on one of the most cold-blooded crimes ever committed in Lexington. In February, 1899, McNamara shot Keller, who was the Q. & C. ticket agent in Lexington, at the corner of Main and Limestone streets, and from the effect of his injuries he died at a hospital a short time afterward. McNamara, who had been released on bond, made his escape shortly after the death of Keller, and has since been at large. His capture has been reported several times, but each time the prisoner under arrest proved to be the wrong man.

McNamara was taken into custody at the Seelbach Hotel as he was entering the elevator, by Sheriff Scott, and returned to Lexington, where he is now confined in the county jail. His capture was effected through information gained by the Lexington officials from a female detective in Louisville, who had been working on the case. It is said that McNamara had been hiding in Louisville for several years.

Jacob S. Keller, who lost his life at the hands of McNamara, formerly resided in this city, and was a son of the late Dr. David Keller. He was the first cousin of Dr. A. H. Keller, of this city.

Harbeson Concert Tonight.

Perhaps it is not too much to say that no vocalists who have ever appeared in Paris, have more admirers than Miss Mary Dan Harbeson and her brother, Mr. Robert Harbeson, who will give a concert at the Methodist church this evening.

Mr. Harbeson has appeared only once before a Paris audience, but those who heard him on that occasion were delighted with his pure, rich baritone voice, and with the power and beauty of his singing.

Miss Harbeson was first heard here in the series of meetings conducted by Rev. Frank Wright, the Indian evangelist, at the Presbyterian church, and the sweetness and expression with which she rendered the gospel songs, so thrilled and charmed the audience, that much of the success of the meeting was due to her efforts, and her popularity was fully established.

Later, this talented sister and brother were heard in concert, and the melody and beauty of their blended voices, coupled with their charming personality, won for them the first place in the hearts of all lovers of music who heard them. One of the chief attractions of their singing is the clearness of their articulation, every syllable being distinct and full of expression. The singers will be accompanied this evening by Miss Frances Johnson, one of the most talented pianists of our city.

The concert will be for the benefit of the Methodist Sunday school and the auditorium should be crowded to the utmost capacity to help the children pay their subscription to the building fund of the church, and to express the admiration and appreciation of the Paris people for these accomplished musicians. Admission 50 cents.

Showers Help Crops.

The drought which has prevailed in this section for the past several weeks has been broken by the fall of copious showers in the past few days. The dry weather worked considerable hardship upon the farmers whose crops were rapidly succumbing for the want of necessary moisture, and until rain relieved the situation agriculturists were becoming very apprehensive. Tobacco planted in good season has suffered to no small degree for the want of a good soaking rain and the recent showers have greatly benefited the plants.

A Rare Opportunity.

Attend the Master Commissioner's sale Thursday, at 10 o'clock, of the Massie lots on Scott avenue and Massie street. Eleven beautiful building lots will be offered. Terms 6, 12 and 18 months.

Construction Work Begins.

The construction gang which will do the double track work between this attendant confusion would drown the sound of the official's voice, and he will use a snail whistle. All numbers ending in "naught" will be omitted to simplify the getting away of the more than forty cars that will be entered when the tour starts. The cars will be checked in and out, that the chairman may keep a line on the cars, and not for any competitive features, as no prizes or awards are offered.

Machine Successful in Woodford

Frank O'Neal, Jr., has just returned from Woodford county, where he has been engaged with his hemp breaking machine in breaking out the crops of several prominent Woodford producers. After hauling the machine over fifty miles of turnpike it worked perfectly and turned out several crops of hemp fiber in record time. For Robert McConnell, Jr., he broke a crop of 30 acres in 45 hours; for J. N. Camden 50 acres in 63-4 days, and for Rout Cleveland six acres in one day.

Besides turning out hemp in such time the machine handles all grades of the fiber, many of which by the hand methods of breaking are allowed to go to waste. In a few days Mr. O'Neal will leave for the East where he will have constructed several more of the machines, one of which will be placed in operation in this county. Mr. O'Neal plans to take at least three of his machines to the Southern part of California, where a hemp similar to that grown in Kentucky grows wild. The texture of the fiber of wild product, while not quite as fine as that cultivated in Kentucky, answers several purposes, but great difficulty has been experienced in getting it on the market.

The invention of Mr. O'Neal has had the effect of stimulating the growth of hemp in Central Kentucky and farmers who for several years have abandoned its culture will sow a large acreage this year, now that there is a visible means of getting their product on the market without the many vexations of the hand-breaking machines, and the scarcity of men to operate them. Besides they will be enabled to get their product on the market several months sooner than heretofore.

A Rare Opportunity.

Attend the Master Commissioner's sale Thursday, at 10 o'clock, of the Massie lots on Scott avenue and Massie Street. Eleven beautiful building lots will be offered. Terms 6, 12 and 18 months.

Exercises at Baptist Church.

Sunday morning at the Baptist church Children's Day was observed with appropriate exercises by the members of the Sunday school. The children, who were trained by Miss Clara Chambers, acquitted themselves with credit to their instructor and her assistants. The exercises, which were presided over by Mr. C. O. Hinton, Superintendent of the school, were as follows:

Hymn—"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."
Scripture.—
Prayer.—
Hymn—"The Bible."
"Children's Day"—Recitation—Virginia Thompson.

"Nature's Message"—By six little children, Russell Mullins, Frances McCarty, Herbert Myers, Grace Parsons, Thelma Payne, and Fithian Tapp.
Song—"Jesus Loves Even Me."
—Primary Class.

Recitation—Frances Thompson.
"Christian Science Discipline"—Raymond Stamler.

"The Sweet Story of Old"—Children.
Recitation—Roger Burnett.
Candle Exercise—Six Children.

Offering.—
Hymn.—

After the program, Rev. E. M. Lightfoot, gave an interesting short talk on "The Book." The offering, which is taken at this annual observance of Children's Day, is devoted to the purchase of copies of the Bible to be sent to mission fields.

Former Blue Grassers in Trouble

Three former Blue Grassers who are with the Battle Creek, Mich., club, are in serious trouble, according to newspaper accounts that have been received here. "Spike" LaRoss, formerly of Winchester, is under suspension, Callahan, formerly of the same club, is likely to be suspended, while Ed McKernan, who managed the Paris team two seasons, is likely to be down on the carpet with another of the Battle Creek players. According to the story, LaRoss was fined by an umpire, who, when about to leave Bay City, where the trouble took place, was asked by McKernan if the fine was going to stick. Upon being informed that it was McKernan is said to have gone away and returned with LaRoss and Callahan. The former accosted the umpire, slapped him in the face while the other men stood by and looked on without making any effort to stop the scrap. The president of the Southern Michigan League fined LaRoss and set him down for an indefinite period and is now investigating the case of McKernan and Callahan.

Fayette Sheriff Shot by Policeman McCann.

In a shooting affray which took place in Lexington, Saturday morning, Sheriff Dan Scott was wounded by Patrolman Ben R. McCann, of the Lexington police force. The shooting occurred about eight o'clock, when the two officers met on East Main street, directly opposite the Phoenix Hotel.

Three shots were fired by McCann from a 38-calibre revolver, two of which took effect, one piercing Scott's left shoulder, severing an artery, and the second glancing across his forehead. The third bullet went wild. The shooting occurred without warning and without a word being spoken by either of the men.

An old grudge, which is the outcome of a difficulty between McCann and Scott at an election booth last November, is said to be the cause of the shooting. Scott was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where it was found his shoulder had been shattered by the bullet, and the severed artery caused much loss of blood. His condition, though serious, is not regarded as dangerous, unless complications arise. McCann was arrested and placed in jail, and was later released on $1,000 bond.
